The world around you begins to quiver, the air thick with an unfamiliar energy that tingles at your skin. One moment, you are merely existing in your mundane life, and the next, the vibrant colors of an ethereal city burst around you like an explosion of joy. Itre about to panic, yet it feels as if every part of this transformation is woven into your very being.

Gradually, you notice your reflection shimmering in the bright clouds around you, a cartoonish allure that draws your gaze. Your human skin begins to bleach into a pure white brilliance that radiates light, almost as if it is imbued with the grace of the heavens themselves. With each passing moment, large red circle patterns emerge on your cheeks, and a soft blue hue dances around the edges of your eyelids, lending your eyes an otherworldly charm.

Your iris shifts swiftly to a delicate light blue, enchanting in its vividness. "What is... happening to me?" you gasp, your voice morphing into a sweeter, melodious tone, resembling the beautiful singsong characteristics of a seraphim. Itstrong, yet intricately graceful. The sensation is nothing short of divine, your heart swelling with a joyous ache as you stretch them wide.

And as your body transforms, so does your attire. Your previous human clothes dissolve, replaced by an elegant angelic robe. White fabric flows around you, adorned with delicate light blue rims and shimmering golden accentsWelcome, dear angel!radiant and eternal!

The blissful ticklish feelings merge into a laughing, joyous epiphany, and you surrender to the transformation completely. Instead of dread, a sparkling happiness ensnares you till you're consumed in laughter. All mortal memories fade like morning mist kissed away by the sunflight, music, combat. Awash in the reality of being a heavenborn seraphim, you smile wider. Your wings flutter at your command, and youMy name!a name as beautiful as the glittering stars above you. With every fiber of your being amplifying the joy and warmth, you settle into this radiant identity.

As you spread your wings wide, laughter echoes around and through you. No longer a weary mortal bound by confusion and fearimmortal, powerful, and eternally delightful within the realm of Heaven.

You're ready to embrace your life here, a heavenborn angel unbound by the shackles of Earth, forever celebrating the magic of being you.